

BYRNES' DEMAND THAT GERMAN OCCUPATION LINES BE BROKEN, ALLIED ARMIES REDUCED, IS REASSURANCE TO GERMANY, WARNING TO RUSSIA, CLARIFICATION TO U. S.

(By LEON PEARSON, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

Points Accusing Finger at Moscow for Blocking Economic Revival of Defeated Reich—Declares America Does Not Want Germany to "Become Satellite of Any Power or To Live Under a Dictatorship, Foreign or Domestic."

STUTTGART, Germany, Sept. 6 — Secretary of State Byrnes delivered a dynamic statement of American policy toward Germany today in which he demanded that occupation lines be broken down—Allied armies be reduced and the German Government be returned to the German people.

His speech was one of clarification to America—reassurance to Germany and warning to Russia.

Byrnes did not name the Soviet Government—but pointed an accusing finger at Moscow for blocking the economic revival of the defeated Reich.

He declared America does not want Germany to "become the satellite of any power or powers or to live under a dictatorship—foreign or domestic."

He said that the purposes of the occupation did not contemplate a "prolonged alien dictatorship" of Germany's peacetime economy or internal political life.

But he said also that security forces probably will have to remain in Germany for a long period and added significantly:

"I want no misunderstanding. We will not shrink our duty. We are not withdrawing. As long as an occupation force is required in Germany the army of the United States will be a part of that occupation force."

The Secretary—in his address to American occupation leaders and German officials—said that the United States has learned that "we live in one world from which we cannot isolate ourselves."

Byrnes warned the German people not again to make the mistake of believing that peace-loving America "will sit back hoping for peace if any nation uses force or the threat of force to acquire dominion over other people and other governments."

Byrnes said that the time has come to define the boundaries of the new Germany.

He declared that the United States will support the French claim to the Saar but believes that if the Saar territory is integrated with France she should readjust her reparations claims against Germany.

The Secretary said that America will support Poland's claim for a revision of her northern and western frontiers—pointing out that as a result of an agreement at Yalta

PLANS PROGRESS FOR "PENNSYLVANIA WEEK"

Committees in Charge of Various Activities Report Favorably at Meeting

PARADE BIG FEATURE

A special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Bristol Chamber of Commerce was held last evening in the McCrory building. The meeting was held for committee reports on the celebration of "Pennsylvania Week."

A very favorable report was made by the banquet committee with C. L. Waterman, chairman, reporting. The entire evening's program is planned and members' tickets are for sale by the banquet committee. This is to be held Tuesday evening, Sept. 17th, at the Keystone Hotel.

The "Community Rally" committee, with the Rev. Edward G. Yeomans, chairman, reported that all plans are made. The choir starts rehearsals on Monday evening and the instrumental music is getting lined up. The speaker for the evening will be the Rev. John Hart, a widely known speaker. This will be held September 19th at the Grand Theatre, starting at 7:15 p. m.

The parade committee with C. S. Wetherill, Jr., as chairman reported very favorably.

The music is being arranged and indications are that the parade will have some of the finest floats from here. The parade will start at Green Lane, going down Farragut avenue and Pond street across Jefferson avenue to Radcliffe street and down Mill street to Bath street to Buckley street to Beaver street then will disband at the post office. The parade will be held Saturday, Sept. 21, starting at 1 p. m. Following the parade there will be a baseball game on Leedom's field.

On some other work for "Pennsylvania Week" the committees will have reports soon.

HAND INJURED

When her hand became caught in a clothes-wringer on Wednesday, Mrs. Kobanski, Oak avenue, Bristol Park, was removed to Harriman Hospital by Bucks Co. Rescue Squad.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Salt-water ports throughout the nation were tied up yesterday when 150,000 seamen went on strike in protest against a Wage Stabilization Board ruling. The walkout, affecting more than 3,000 American ships, called by the AFL, was fully supported by the CIO. Union leaders said only a reversal of the nullification of a negotiated wage increase could end the strike, which shipping men predicted would be the longest and most serious in the country's history; eventually 500,000 waterfront workers will be affected, they said.

President Truman left Federal action in the hands of Labor Secretary Schweinfach, who had sought in vain to halt the walkout. A rail embargo was placed upon shipments to ports.

Pickets in the New York truck strike turned back long-distance vans at tunnels and bridges. Mayor O'Dwyer called union leaders, operators and State mediators from New York and New Jersey to a conference this morning to work out a plan to prevent public suffering. Milk companies cut deliveries by 5% and estimated that the reduction would be at least 10% today.

Last of the Old Guard

SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

A man died the other day. As real men are so few, when one dies, it should be reported. This was the kind of man Josiah G. Holland wrote of: "God give us men—whom the spoils of office cannot buy—men who possess opinions and a will—men who have honor—men who will not lie."

The public is cynical these days—cynical about platform pledges and candidates' promises. Statements of the highest officials, and even "government statistics," are subject to heavy discount. "Who gets what, when, and how" is the key to political success. "Nobody shoots Santa Claus" has become a proverb. In such a time it is worth our note when a man dies.

I refer to U. S. Supreme Court Justice McReynolds, the last of the old guard of McReynolds, Butler, Sutherland and Vandevanter.

When these men refused to sanction the repudiation of the solemn promise of the United States to pay its bonds in gold, McReynolds wrote that the "impending legal and

TEACHER VACANCIES CAUSING ANXIETY

15 Vacancies Throughout Elementary Grades in Bucks County

FORCED TO USE "SUBS"

Higher teacher salaries have not solved the problem of filling teacher vacancies for a number of public school boards. Warrington Township, New Britain Borough, Lower Makefield, Yardley, Lower Southampton, Langhorne, Nockamixon, and East Rockhill, and Plumstead have a total of 15 vacancies unfilled at this late date.

Most of the vacancies are in the elementary field where there are practically no candidates. The school boards will have to depend upon monthly substitutes if the elementary school vacancies are to be filled.

Last minute resignations of two supervising principals were received last week. W. A. Thomas at Langhorne-Middletown and Warren Smith at Yardley both will leave Bucks County. Mr. Thomas joins the faculty of the Lock Haven State Teachers College and Mr. Smith will enter the business field, probably in the southwestern United States. Both have been associated with Bucks County Schools for over 25 years.

AUXILIARY TO MEET

Members of American Legion Auxiliary will gather in Bracken Post home this evening at 8:30 for a business meeting.

MEAD AND MONEY

If this wasn't such a tough old world, so full of hard bumps for those who make mistakes, then perhaps the New Deal assumption that "there will always be plenty of money" might be passed off as one of those harmless but illogical fancies, like believing in fairies, or knocking on wood.

Unfortunately, laws of human nature and of money haven't changed since the first time a wise man said, "Waste not, want not" and "He who goes a borrowing goes a sorrowing."

One of the most amazingly casual "brush-offs" ever given a chance to save a "trifling" $5,000,000 a year was made a few days ago by a high-ranking Democrat making a pre-campaign political speech in Cleveland, Ohio.

The New Dealer was Senator James M. Mead, of New York, who has been much in the public prints during recent weeks—perhaps because he has a bee in his bonnet for a higher job.

He was talking about recent demands—made by innumerable Democrats as well as Republicans, and not long ago joined in by virtually all State Governors—for the national government to hurry up with the dropping of 2,000,000 extra job-holders hired to "win the war"—and certainly no longer needed now that the war has been over more than a year.

Senator Mead said piously that "Government must not be wrecked by wholesale, ill-advised reduction dictated by political expediency."

It may be that the Senator's normal thinking in such matters, and possibly even his manner of expression, was influenced by the nature of his audience. This was made up of members of the National Federation of Federal Employees.

Of course, perhaps it would have been expecting too much for Senator Mead to have echoed the conclusions reached by those who have made special studies of the public payrolls—Democratic Senator Byrd, of Virginia, for example—and tell his hearers:

"The country would be better run if two out of three of you were dropped, and permitted to get jobs in private industry, where you really will be needed if we can ever get full production started again."

On the other hand, it is rather doubtful whether Senator Mead would care to stand before an audience of those who are footing the bills, and say, as he did at Cleveland, that "Congress must consider carefully and well before any large reduction in Federal personnel takes place."

Britain Serves Notice on Trieste Problem

Paris. The British Government served notice on the Paris peace conference today that the council of foreign ministers solution of the Trieste problem must be accepted in its entirety or rejected completely.

The British did not say whether they would swing behind Italian or Yugoslav claims for the pivotal city, if the conference decides to scrap the foreign ministers' solution.

Hector McNeil, an undersecretary for foreign affairs, made known the viewpoint of his government.

This statement was the first flat announcement by any of the Big Four that solutions reached by the foreign ministers council must prevail or be abandoned entirely.

Earlier, McNeil declared that any changes in the Trieste solution, as demanded by Yugoslavia, would leave Italy the "sick man" of Europe.

WHERE HISTORY BEGAN

United States warships which, in the last few months have been steaming singly eastward from Gibraltar on "courtesy calls," are prolonging their visits. As a matter of fact, they have assumed the proportions of a United States Mediterranean fleet. The London Observer says editorially: "For the first time in 250 years, the active assertion of sea power in the Mediterranean rests with a country other than Britain."

Last April, when the Turks were facing encirclement on the east through Russian penetration of Azerbaijan, they were cheered by the ostentatious visit to Istanbul of the U. S. S. Missouri, mighty battleship of the Tokyo Bay surrender. United States cruisers in the Adriatic have been the main factor through recent weeks to deter Tito's Yugoslavs from seizing Trieste by a coup de main. Other units put in at Piraeus, historic port of Athens, for a good will call remarkably timed with the Greek plebiscite.

Arabs who dwell amid the olive groves and ancient ruins of what once was a nation called Carthage might have looked seaward to behold the aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, perhaps the most powerful sea potential extant, steaming toward Malta. In London Admiral Marc Mitscher says the United States will maintain an enlarged fleet in the Mediterranean for "some time to come." In Washington Admiral William F. Halsey says that deployment of the U. S. Navy is "nobody's business" and that "we will go anywhere we please on the high seas."

It is no secret at all that this power is on display to reinforce State Department notes to Russia on the issue of freedom of waterways, particularly the Dardanelles. Napoleon once wrote of the Dardanelles, "He who controls the straits can rule the world."

SAME OLD STORY

"Differences of opinion" which held up announcement of new ceiling prices on livestock and meat told the same old story. OPA officials fought grimly to roll back prices to approximately the same level where they were when the old act expired and controls went off. The Department of Agriculture was eager to see ceilings fixed at levels high enough to encourage the production of livestock and its sale through traditional channels.

If the men who run OPA are capable of learning anything at all they should be able to realize the complete futility of trying to hold a rigid price line at a level too low to allow the average producer a reasonable profit. Under the ceilings which prevailed two months ago meat production was far below demand and much of what meat there was flowed into the black market. To attempt to reimpose ceilings at or near the prices prevailing on June 30 would have been asking for trouble.

If people use 44 muscles in speaking, as scientists assert, is it any wonder this is a tired world.

The money he is discussing isn't chickenfeed. Of the 2,000,000 Federal employees he referred to, it is doubtful whether they receive on the average less than $2500 a year. If that is the figure, then the payroll padding for which the White House and the rest of the New Deal-PAC combine are responsible runs to $5,000,000,000 a year.

That's not marbles. It's a whole lot more than the 50-year loan for which the British government recently put the arm on Uncle Sam.

It's considerably more than it used to take the Republican Party to run the entire United States government for a year—back in the days when a dollar was a dollar.

If it were saved, the Truman budget would be within shouting distance of being balanced.

Or, if the budget is as good as the New Dealers pretend it is, then saving it would permit all Federal taxes to be cut from 15 to 20 per cent and still leave us where we now are in financial matters.

Any citizen who wishes can figure how much of it he, on the average, will wind up paying. Divided by the national population, the figure gives the sum of $35.71 cents as each man's, woman's or child's share—$178.55 for each family of five.

This is year after year, understand—until the waste is stopped. And by no means all of it is in the form of taxes which, like the income tax, are out in the open. A great deal of the cost is in the shape of hidden taxes, which many people don't even know they are paying, but which keep cost of living constantly rising.

The sum represents, in rough figures, a 5 per cent sales tax on all purchases of every variety—allowing for the fact that a great deal of the income tax eventually gets slid over onto the selling price, since that is really the only source from which it can come.

What makes Senator Mead's view all the harder to understand is that most of his own party leaders already have conceded the very principle he disputes.

President Truman admitted long ago that the Federal payroll ought to be slashed. He promised to attend to this if the Reorganization Bill was passed. Repeatedly he has said that he would get at the matter in due course—although the figures on employment make it appear that the public continues to get the little old run-around.

The truth of the matter, of course, is that the one chance which the New Dealers see of winning this Fall's Congressional elections is to capture them with an army of public job-holders.

For these patronage-minded politicians, trained mainly in the Pendergast school of machine politics in Missouri, without the payroll they would feel as lost as Gene Autry without his horse, or Veronica Lake in a G. I. haircut.

What Senator Mead really was saying to these Federal pay-rollers was that if they want to keep their jobs, they better get busy in politics. That's what they're hired for.

moral chaos is appalling." Was he right? Does anyone really believe that the national debt will ever be paid? Does anyone know what the law is on any federal matter? Does any business man know? Justice Roberts has said Supreme Court decisions were no better than railroad tickets, good for the day and trip only.

The "moral chaos" McReynolds foresaw has deepened until the federal government prints money to pay its bills without any shame whatever—a snide and cowardly business which millions of little people are paying for as their own government filches the value out of their savings.

Yet this man wrote notable decisions upholding civil rights and was perhaps the most relentless and successful prosecutor of big business violators of our anti-trust laws we have ever had.

The crime of McReynolds was that he held unflinchingly that it is not the business of Congress or the President or the Supreme Court to amend the Constitution. That is the people's business. Because he fought to protect the rights of the people in their great charter he was snarled by the breast-beaters for "democracy," as a "Tory" and "reactionary."

Well, the job of changing the Constitution has been done—but the fruit, bitter or sweet, remains to be gathered.

A bachelor, austere in manner, he "adopted" 33 child victims of the blitzkrieg in England. McReynolds was denounced by "humanitarians," but if some of them in high places dug into their own pockets for such purposes, it has not been reported.

"It is my obligation as a judge," he said, "to protect the backwoodsman in the hills of Georgia as well as the man of wealth on Fifth Avenue, and the man in the mansion as well as the dweller in a cottage."

Not a bad ideal for a judge. Do we sleep sounder as politicians and pressure groups make public life intolerable for such men?

Wilted as few men have been in our times, charged with "hardening of the judicial arteries," he stood by his principles to the end. At the last, he stood alone.

But no one will charge him with the political smut that has tarnished and corroded our public affairs, that has made us a nation of cynics.

Yes, occasionally this Republic breeds a man. Count them. It is an easy task.

Insurance Representative Addresses Rotarians

"A good insurance agent is not primarily a salesman, but a doctor—not of medicine—but of exposure," Arthur M. Segrave-Daly, Agency Supervisor of the Insurance Company of North America, told Rotarians when he addressed them at the Elks' Home yesterday afternoon on the subject, "Functions of a Good Insurance Agent."

"In times gone by even insurance agents lost the true sense of their duty... they were anxious to get insurance, no matter how they got it."

"In these past times, known as the 'glamour days,' the results of these selling practices, although not done intentionally, left a bad impression when next an agent called."

"The functions of a good agent are diagnosis and cure. The agent must diagnose his customer's needs... he must be conscientious and find the vulnerable points in every plan. Every risk is an individual case and must be treated by the agent as such."

President Richard W. Fechtenburg was in charge of the meeting yesterday. A good attendance was on hand for the program.

THE CAPITOL WHIRL

A Digest of Things Political Occurring At Harrisburg

By International News Service
HARRISBURG, Sept. 6.—(INS)—Many Capitol Hill politicians have expressed the belief that it would be only a few years until World War II veterans control both major parties. . . . Some leaders have predicted that within five years the candidates for major offices as well as party chieftains will be veterans of the second world conflict. . . . Although veterans have been reported taking an "active interest" in politics this year, some leaders have said it would take a few years for them to work their way into positions of power in state organizations.

In addition to politics, World War II veterans were expected to be controlling former service men's organizations within a short time. . . . Most of the leaders of today's veterans' units are men who served in the armed forces during the Spanish-American and first world conflicts.

Women have been playing an increasingly greater part in politics during the past few years and many leaders have expressed the belief that their votes may decide the general election this fall. . . . August 26 of this year marked the 26th anniversary of the granting of women the right to vote. . . . Women were given the right to vote under the 19th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

A plaster model of the Pennsylvania State Capitol buildings has been placed under a glass case and moved from Gov. Edward Martin's reception room to the rotunda of the main building at the State House. . . . Hundreds of Capitol visitors have been impressed by the model which shows the proposed "People's Court" and surrounding terraces to be erected at the eastern front of the Capitol. . . . Work on the proposed "Court," where future inaugural ceremonies may be held, was expected to get under way next year. . . . Five temporary wooden buildings will be removed to construct the "Court."

Byrnes' Demands Clarify Stand of United States

Poland ceded to the Soviet Union territory east of the Curzon line. Byrnes added that the United States will not oppose the desire of the people of the Ruhr and the Rhineland to remain united with the rest of Germany but will favor controls preventing the resources of those areas from ever again being used for destructive purposes.

The American statesman made a sweeping appeal to the German people to understand that the United States has no desire for vengeance.

He said: "The German people must realize that it was Hitler and his minions who tortured and exterminated innocent men, women and children and sought with German arms to dominate and degrade the world. . . . It was the massed anger of forces of humanity which had to fight their way into Germany to give the world the hope of freedom and peace."

"The American people who fought for freedom have no desire to enslave the German people. The freedom Americans believe in and fought for is a freedom which must be shared with all willing to respect the freedom of others."

"The American people want to return the government of Germany to the German people. The American people want to help the German people to win their way back to an honorable place among the free and peace-loving nations of the world."

Byrnes pointed out that so far only the British Government has agreed to let its zone participate in the American plan to unify the economy of its own section with any or all of the other zones willing to participate in the unification.

to have the guard rail at the overhead bridge in Edgely repaired. The board instructed the secretary to request the railroad company to have repairs made.

Mr. Patterson, temporary chairman of the Civic Association of Fleetwings Estate, No. 2, was present, as was also Mr. Gordon. The two asked the board to have the school bus stopped on the plant side of Fleetwings at Green Lane, so that pupils will not be required to cross the highway to board the bus. Directors informed the two that if parking of cars at Fleetwings plant siding entrance is eliminated so that the bus can make a stop at that point, the bus will stop on the plant side to pick up children.

Sportsmen's Briefs

By JOE ELBERSON

Important meeting . . . next Tuesday, September 10, members of the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association will meet in the Odd Fellows' Hall, Walnut & Radcliffe streets, at eight p. m.

Although no entertainment program is scheduled (this will be held in October) president John C. Johnson urges members to turn out so that final details can be made for the Association's outing which is scheduled for the Club grounds, opposite Silver Lake, on Sunday, September 15th.

Stocking item . . . on Wednesday of this week Silver Lake was stocked with 500 catfish, according to John Wopart, superintendent of the Fish Commission's Torrensedale Hatchery. The superintendent said the fish were large in size, measuring from 10 to 15 inches. He also reports that the lake will be made in the next few weeks.

Be careful . . . a lighted match or carelessly discarded cigarette may burn up many a vital family dinner during the coming hunting season unless hunters, campers and even motorists exercise unusual caution during the dry days of the Fall.

This food-conservation warning was sounded today by M. B. Allen, well-known hunting authority of Western-Winchester.

Each year the public is cautioned against starting accidental fires in dry grass or leaves by failure to extinguish matches and lighted cigars and cigarettes, and stamp out fires, Allen said. This year, with the shortage of food, it is more important than ever before not to burn up fields which provide cover to many types of game.

With an average of eight million hunting licenses issued annually, it is apparent that a large number of families augment their food supply with game and the careless destruction of game habitat by fire will only serve to make the present food shortages more acute.

In the interest of conserving food the co-operation of individual motorists, campers, hunters, fishermen, Boy Scouts and all others whose recreation takes them into the open is urged.

Another meeting . . . next Monday evening, Sept. 9th, delegates from sportsmen's groups in Bucks County will meet in Doylestown when the Bucks County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs holds its regular meeting. From present reports a nationally-known flycasting camp will be present to give an exhibition for the delegates.

Got a few . . . Bill Bessler and I were on the River on Monday for the opening of the railbird season. Jumped five birds and got four of them. There is a fine stand of reeds on the section of marshland we hunted. The tide however, didn't come up too well and we had just a short time to push our boat before it dropped off and we had to stop hunting. Expect to give it another try tomorrow afternoon.

CHURCH SOFTBALL LEAGUE TO OPEN SERIES TOMORROW

Cornwells Methodist To Oppose Calvary Baptist At Croydon

GAME STARTS 2 P. M.

Lombardo and Hart Will Be The Opposing Pitchers

The first of a 3-game play-off for the championship of the Lower Bucks Church Softball League will open tomorrow afternoon on the Croydon YMA field when Cornwells Methodist, winners of the second half crown will oppose the first half winners, Calvary Baptist. Game time is 2 p. m.

Manager John Joston has nominated Sam Lombardo to do the hurling chores for Cornwells. Lombardo has a won-lost record of five-and-one with his lone setback coming at the hands of his opponents today—Calvary, who scored a close, 6-5, win at Croydon in the final game of the first half. Sam has also scored a victory over Calvary, winning, 7-6, in the last meeting of the clubs at Cornwells.

Lombardo's hill opponent will be Maris Hart, who won four games and lost two during the season. His two defeats were both at the hands of Cornwells, who scored 7-6 wins in both games. He has yet to beat Cornwells this season.

An indication of the type of game the two teams are expected to exhibit may be seen by a glance at the record of the clubs while opposing each other. In three meetings this season, Cornwells holds a 2-1 edge over Calvary. But all three games were decided by a single tally, and each game was decided by rallies in the late innings. In two of the three games, the "home" team came from behind with a 7th inning rally to win out.

In the first meeting of the teams at the Columbus Country Club, Calvary saw a 6-1 lead vanish when Cornwells rallied for three runs in each of the fifth and sixth frames to win out, 7-6. Then when the clubs met at Croydon, Calvary came from behind to score 3 counters in the 7th on the strength of Charf Tomlinson's 3-run homer to win out, 6-5. And in the final conflict at Cornwells two weeks ago, Cornwells scored a 7-6 decision when Charlie Poston's "squeeze" hit scored Bob Whyte with the winning run after Calvary scored 3 times in their 7th but to go ahead, 6-5.

Over the entire season both clubs scored 15 victories while losing but four times in League competition for a grand winning percentage of .789.

Cornwells' four setbacks came at the hands of Hulmeville, 10-7; Edgington-Newport, 7-3; and Calvary, 6-5, in the first half. Their lone defeat in the second half was at the hands of the Church of Our Saviour, 3-2. Calvary was beaten only by Cornwells in the first half by a 7-6 score. In the second half, however, Calvary dropped a 10-4 decision to Hulmeville; lost, 5-1, to Bristol Presbyterian; and 7-6 to Cornwells.

Don Abe, who won 8 and lost but one game for Cornwells will be in reserve in the event Lombardo needs any assistance in the opening game. At the same time, Dale Smith, who had an 8-2 record for the season will be ready if Maris Hart is unable to finish. However, should Lombardo and Hart go the route tomorrow, it is probable that Abe and Smith will be the opposing pitchers in the second game of the "series" on Wednesday evening.

With Captain Charlie Mudie and

Russ Jones supplying the batting punch along with Jack Hansen, Cornwells' leading slugger, Manager John Poston has plenty of strength right down the line is his starting array. He will also have good reserve strength in Bernie Reif, Tom Farenio, and Charlie Poston.

Leading Calvary's offensive attack will be "Chart" and Lou Tomlinson, Dale Smith and Maris Hart, all of whom hit over 400 for the season. "Chart" also led the league in the matter of driving out round-trippers, having six for the season.

Calvary has been strengthened considerably with the uncovering in late season of Hugh Brittingham, who bats and fields well. Hugh is slated for a starting role in Calvary's outfield. Manager Lou Tomlinson is also counting on the return home of John Toroni and Jack Spencer who have been out all season. The latter is still in the Navy, but may get home on a "week-end" pass. There is also a possibility that Jim Katz may also be available for the play-offs. Katz, an ex-Marine, has been out all season due to working hours.

Both Manager Poston and Tomlinson are in accord with each other as to the balance of the two clubs are concerned; and that the series will, consequently, go the full route of three games.

Starting time for the opener tomorrow at Croydon is 2 p. m. The second game is scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 11; with the 3rd and final, if necessary, will be played at Croydon, Saturday, September 14th.

Probable starting line-ups for "series" opener:

	Calvary	Cornwells
Abe	Reif	Whyte
W. Poston	Erny	Smith
Hansen	P. Tomlinson	Brittingham
Lannon	Smith	W. Tomlinson
Jones	Whyte	Brittingham
Marshall	Bauer	Marshall

BRISTOL HIGH WILL OPEN GRID SEASON SEPT. 20TH

Candidates have been reporting daily to Coach Harry McClister, of the Bristol high school football team. McClister has had the boys out for practice for two weeks in preparation for the opening game at Vineland on the night of September 20th.

McClister is being assisted by Don Fetterman, who is in charge of the linemen.

Several of last season's varsity players are back, although the coaches claim that every position is open and it will be a week or so before the candidates will be cut. Bristol has ten games definitely on the schedule, with the possibility of an eleventh being scheduled by faculty manager, Charles Utz.

BOWLING ACTIVITIES

Federal League bowlers will start activities on Tuesday at eight p. m., at Bristol Recreation Center, according to announcement by the secretary, William O'Dea.

Coach Watson handed suits to some of the candidates who were left over from last season and expects to issue more uniforms tomorrow.

Candidates will also be issued certificates which must be signed by parents of the youth wishing to play football.

The local junior high team has games scheduled with Bristol Township, Glenside-Weldon, St. Francis Vocational School, Langhorne and Morrisville. It will play Bristol Township twice.
